OGILVIE MILLING CO

Manager W. A. Hastings, of Winnipeg, Visits Victoria.

Matters of Interest Narrated by him—His Opinion on B. C. Affairs.

During the presence in this city of Mr. W. A. Hastings, manager in the Northwest for the great flouring and grain dealing firm of Messrs. Ogilvie & Co., Montreal, the most extensive concern of its kind in Canada and equalled by but only one or two in the United States, considerable particulars of interest to THE TIMES readers were learned from that gentleman concerning the operations of his firm. The present total daily capacity of their mills at Winnipeg, Goderich, Seaforth and Montreal is 4450 barrels. The capacity of the Winnipeg mill in a short time will be increased to 1000 barrels; the aim being to reach 4600 bbls. per diem. For each barrel of flour ground 4½ bushels of wheat is necessary. The grain used by the firm is principally what is known as Manitoba No. 1 hard—a grain which has no superior in the world as a flour producer, as has been frequently demonstrated by repeated tests both in America and in Europe.

THE ELEVATOR SYSTEM.

The company have no less than thirty elevators erected at different points in Manitoba and in the Territories. The charge made for elevating, cleaning and shipping the grain is 2¼c. per bushel and ¼ of a cent for ten days the grain is stored. Warehouse receipts are issued by the company in accordance with the law; so that farmers can at once proceed to the banks, or to capitalists and receive advances on their grain pending its being sold or forwarded to some other point. This system enables a farmer to obtain money for his grain the moment it is threshed and in the elevator. These are constructed along the main and branch lines of the C. P. R., wherever settlements warrant the expense; insurance risks are also issued by first-class companies on the grain thus stored.

THIS YEAR'S CROP

will be the largest yet grown in that country. The area cultivated is greater and the prospects for a great yield are most encouraging. If nothing untoward now occurs the surplus wheat for export out of the province will be at least 8,000,000 bushels. Some estimates of as high as 10,000,000 bushels have been made, but Mr. Hastings did not wish to draw so long a bow as that, and thought the lesser figure would be found to be about the correct quantity. Data already collected went to show that the acreage cultivated was fully 10 per cent. greater than last year. In other grains there was likewise a corresponding increase. Oats this year would be a heavy crop, as would also be barley. Flax was cultivated in Southern Manitoba amongst the Mennonites, but with indifferent success.

FARMERS PROSPEROUS.

His knowledge of the farmers in Manitoba and the Territories went to show that they were attaining to ease and comfort, many even making substantial headway and accumulating wealth rapidly. They were erecting comfortable dwellings for themselves and better buildings for the housing of their stock in the winter, as well as carrying out other improvements, all of which indicated prosperity. Lumber was now cheaper than it had been for many years. A considerable quantity was being brought into the Northwest from British Columbia, to which market they now looked for all future supplies for general use. If the province is blessed with a good crop this year the farmers of Manitoba will be on as sound a financial footing as it is possible to find their peers in any country.

TRADE POSSIBILITIES.

Mr. Hastings predicts that a large trade will be done in the shipment of oats to this province, as well as the product of that grain, and likewise that of the dairy and poultry yard. He is of the opinion that the farmers of British Columbia should be able to raise a surplus of oats, barley and sufficient wheat to supply all the demands for local consumption. He justly considers it an anomalous condition of affairs that, notwithstanding all their unrivalled advantages as to climate and water, the statistics of the country should show so great a drain upon its resources as the many hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly sent out of the country for that which there is nothing to prevent its being raised within ourselves, and the money kept at home to enrich our own people. For a population of 60,000, the sending across the borders of close upon a million dollars a year, must be regarded as extraordinary, and revealing a state of affairs which ought not to exist. He hoped for the prosperity of our farmers and the country at large, that all this would be changed and that the balance of trade in respect to the product of the farm and dairy would be reversed.

REFRIGERATOR CARS.

He was aware that several refrigerator cars were now on the service of the railway company running between the east and the coast. These are admirably constructed, of the latest design and most approved principle. These were to be utilized in bringing east from the coast fruit and fish. Satisfactory rates were given by the C. P. R. with the view of fostering this trade, and he was satisfied that in a short time the inter-provincial traffic in this respect would reach considerable importance. His company had been quoted a satisfactory rate by the C. P. R. management for shipments of flour intended for the inter-Pacific trade to this coast. The flour would be put up in 25, 50 and 100 lb sacks to suit the requirements of the trade. Barrels were abandoned by them at their Winnipeg mills and sacks substituted therefor.

BRITISH COLUMBIA WHEAT.

Samples had been sent him of the wheat grown in different localities of British Columbia. Upon being tested it was found that the samples raised west of the Cascades were similar in quality to Oregon wheat, too soft to be ground without going through other processes in order to produce a satisfactory grade of flour. Wheat raised in the interior was of a somewhat better grade; yet the berry there was but slightly harder and flintier than that of the coast. Northwest and Minnesota were about equal as to the quality of the grain and flour obtained therefrom.

Gradually his company was reaching out its arms for the Pacific coast trade in British Columbia. Already 30 per cent. of the flour business on the mainland was transacted by them. They would prefer to send their surplus production to this coast for trans-shipment than to Europe. The Victoria trade was satisfactory and still increasing. A warehouse had been opened at Vancouver and would hereafter be known as the central one for the coast and from hence dealers throughout the province would draw their supplies. He had been kindly treated in Victoria and would return to the east with the kindest of recollections of Victoria and his visit to the coast generally.

CHILLIWHACK NEWS.

Appearance of the Crops—Centerville Booming, Fire, &c.

On account of the unusually late spring and the vast amount of snow reported to have fallen in the mountains, many of the residents of Chilliwhack expected a repetition of the freshets of 1882; but in this they have been pleasantly disappointed. We have had an unusually during the last six weeks, but not high enough to do any damage, and all danger is past for this year. The dam erected in Hope slough by Messrs. Barford and Bell, and the dykes erected by them and Messrs. Munro and Castleman, have so far been a complete success, and when the remainder of the Chilliwhack dyking scheme now under consideration has been carried out, let us hope the destruction of crops in Chilliwhack by floods will be a thing of the past, and Chilliwhack yet prove the garden of British Columbia. From appearances in Chilliwhack will be above our average. Hay is reported to be lighter than usual, but the grain and root crops will more than counterbalance the deficiency in this respect. The mosquitoes are somewhat troublesome in the evenings, but incommode but little during the day in the clearings. As soon as the country is cleared up and drained this pest will disappear.

THE VILLAGE OF CENTREVILLE

is now quite a stirring place and contains over 70 of a population, and most of the business is transacted there instead of at the Indian Reserve as formerly. The village now boasts of three churches, three blacksmith shops, a shoe shop, harness shop, two hotels, a school house, in which two teachers are employed, a town hall, two stores, a doctor's office, a flour mill and a number of private residences. The villagers are now agitating for the removal of the post office from the Indian Reserve to the village. Both the stores in the village do a good trade. A barber, I am told, intends to put up a pole next week. Five new buildings are in course of erection and a number more to be commenced soon. We are having quite a boom in town lots and owners are asking over $800 an acre. Farmers are busy haying and the weather is all that could be desired.

FIRE AT CENTREVILLE.

On Sunday morning about 3 o'clock one of the inmates of the Pioneer Hotel was aroused from sleep by hearing a terrible roaring near the stairway, and on opening his room found the central part of the house in flames. He immediately gave the alarm and not a moment too soon, for had the alarm been five minutes later, most of the children and some of the boarders would have undoubtedly perished in the flames. Some of the children escaped in their night clothes and two of the boarders had to jump out of their windows half dressed, and had hardly struck the ground when the flames burst out of their windows. The building burned like a tinder box, and in less than five minutes after the fire was discovered was a seething mass of flames. The to the barn, stables and outhouses adjoining, and in less than twenty minutes every building on the lot was destroyed. Luckily the night was quite calm for had the breeze been blowing that blew two hours after the village would likely have been laid in ruins. The fire spread so rapidly that there was no time to save scarcely anything. The furniture and fixtures, with the exception of the stove that was in the kitchen and a few chairs that were near the doors, are a total loss. The origin of the fire is unknown. The hotel is said to have been insured for $1000. The proprietor is now attending to the wants of the thirsty in a tent.

VILLAGER.

Chilliwhack, July 11, 1887.

Catarrah, Catarrahal Deafness and Hay Fever.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are cured in from one to three simple applications made at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street West, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Standard.

"THAT YOUNG MAN."

Lecture in the First Presbyterian Church.

Man's Life from the Cradle to the Grave.

The lecture announced to be delivered in the school room of the First Presbyterian Church, Pandora street, last night, by the Rev. P. McF. McLeod, was well attended. Had there not been counter attractions the attendance would certainly have been much greater. The Rev. Donald Fraser, M. A., occupied the chair, Rev. Dr. Reid leading the audience in devotional exercises, after which Mr. Fraser in a few complimentary remarks introduced the lecturer.

Rev. Mr. McLeod began his lecture by narrating many interesting facts relating to the history of the average young man until he attains the age of 16 years. To the older people he administered a castigation by stating that many of those had forgotten that they too at one time were young men. Parents too frequently discovered peculiar traits in their children which they had forgotten were once their own. The reverend lecturer divided the history, rise and progress of the young man into three periods. The first one embraced that interesting period between the ages of 14 and 16 years. This period he graphically portrayed by bringing out the several reigning characteristics to be found in the average boy, principally amongst which was hunger, the elements of his ambition being how best to get a good square meal and with the quickest despatch. He illustrated a case in point where an avaricious youth asked his father to invoke the blessing on a whole barrel of pork at once to save time. He then dwelt upon the imaginative era which took possession of the average boy and the many castles he built in the air peopled with imaginative beings over whom he ruled. At the age of 16 the young man begins to consider himself of some importance and good looking, although his arms and legs are developed at the expense of the body, and his face had a tendency to blossom, but alas, not like the rose. He walked with a manly stride stroking his chin and upper lip in search of a growth of hair. Extremely bashful at this stage, he preferred a back seat behind the parlor door where, like the ostrich who buries his head in the sand, he imagines he is out of sight. He is prone to imagine he is out of sight. He is prone to imagine that he is being laughed at. To know that he is a fool is not comfortless, but to know other people think so is very sad to him. From 16 to 19 the young man enters upon another era of his existence. This is the tender or love epoch. He imagines himself in love, his ethereal passion being termed "calf love," though philosophy gives no reason for that term. The love of the youth at this age is free from selfishness. It is "love's young dream" invested with all the imaginary charms. He walks the streets to catch a glimpse of his inamorata, who is probably ten years older than himself and already has a bean, and thus he wastes his love on the desert air. This imaginative affection makes him more courteous to all ladies and he is more in love with his mother. The best preventative against "mooning" was active employment and it was good for the young man to be short of cash, yet his imagination gave him power to see in his $2 a week a boundless income in the future. Here the lecturer instanced several cases, notably that of John Stuart Mill and Thomas Carlyle, who had left behind them warnings for young men and how to comport themselves at this interesting period of their life and the effect of a Christian mother's training upon their entire life and the blessings of God certain to follow those adhering to their precepts. Between the ages of 19 and 22, or possibly 25, was the third period. Now activity takes possession of the young man and imagination to a large extent dethroned. Self-consciousness and despotic sway control the actions of the young man who goes forth into the wide world with self-assurance and the belief that he knows more and is vastly wiser than the old folks or any of those who have preceded him. He now fancies himself a veritable hero and imagines when he enters a parlor that the music heard is that of "Behold the Conquering hero comes." He believes himself to be remarkably witty and that he would be much funnier if he so wished it. He has acquired the habit of smoking and when walking with a lady whilst smoking his pipe hears her say that she prefers the fragrance of a cigar to that of the pipe. Still he refuses to take the hint to drop it. As to smoking society tolerates that habit; but it is to be hoped that chewing will never be tolerated for the only reference to this habit in the Scriptures is found in the lines: "He that is filthy let him be filthy still." If God had intended us to smoke He would have placed a chimney in the back of our heads for He never intended smoke to come out of the front door. The young man at this stage is not in love with the girls, but they are in love with him so he believes. He is afraid he might throw himself away on some of them. Finally he becomes a man of business—a man of the world—thinking himself wiser and smarter than his master, to whom as well as to his master he is quite ready to impart advice. Finally the young man leaves the paternal roof or the employment of another and sets up for himself; he is soon humbled by failure. Then the thoughts of youth disappears and he stands forth in his full manhood ready to work and toil from sun rise to sun set. Many commit a serious error in making a false start. Let the avocation to be followed be chosen carefully and with prayer. Instances were given of such men as Geo. Stephenson and James Watt, the great engineers who had completely revolutionized the mode of locomotion and propelling power throughout the world; Ben Franklin, who persevered with poverty staring him in the face experimented with electricity, which were further completed by Thos. C. Edison, who whilst a news boy on the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada carried on his experiments in the baggage car and now had almost transformed the darkness of night in the large cities into daylight. The great but eccentric Ben. Johnson was also named and many others, amongst whom was the late William E. Dodge, of New York; all of whom began their career in the most humble way. He did not advocate violent reforms, but he urged his hearers to avoid the semblance of being termed a "loafer" or an idle "lounger." During the delivery of the lecture Mr. McLeod told many amusing, yet highly appropriate, anecdotes, illustrative of the point he was endeavoring to make. The one told of a famous Edinburgh divine who once came across a lot of youngsters who were engaged in building a "toon" out of mud, and when asked by the man of holy orders what that grand building in the distance was, a bright lad replied by saying that, sir, is the kirk, and on being asked where the minister was replied, "we had na' enough dirt to mak' one," brought a hearty smile upon every countenance. From Mark Twain he read a letter of advice to a friend as to the woman he should choose for a wife, which was extremely humorous. The lecture throughout was instructive and withal highly amusing.

At the close a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Alex. Wilson in a few well chosen remarks, seconded by Mr. R. A. Anderson, which was acknowledged by Mr. McLeod, who stated that he had promised to get up a lecture on "That Girl," but found it a more difficult task than he had bargained for, as each girl was distinct and original from the others. The meeting was closed by Mr. Fraser pronouncing the benediction.

CITY COUNCIL.

Are we an Immoral City?—The Mayor Takes Exception to Messrs. Fraser and Starr's Remarks.

The regular weekly meeting of the city council was held last evening. Present: His Worship the Mayor, and Couns. Grant, Styles, Higgins, Harris, Braden, Coughlan, Vigelius. The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and adopted.

WHISKY AND MORALITY.

His Worship said that before proceeding to business he would like to make a few remarks regarding statements made by certain clerical gentlemen as to the standard of morality in this city. As Mayor he had a duty to perform in defending the reputation of the city, and when gentlemen made such statements as had been made regarding the fair fame of our city he felt called upon to deny them. Rev. Mr. Fraser had said in a speech at Winnipeg that the standard of morality in Victoria was very low, that young people were growing up in ignorance and had no respect for the cloth. Again Rev. Mr. Starr was reported to have said in his sermon at the Methodist Church on Sunday evening last, that the state of morality in this city was low and that there were no less than eighty places where liquor was sold. As a matter of fact there never had been eighty places for the sale of liquor in this city, and a gentleman who was a stranger in the city should be more careful than to make such a statement. There were at the present time 66 licenses for the sale of liquor. Four or five of these were in the suburbs and eight or ten of them did not keep open on Sunday. There was not a more orderly city than Victoria on the Pacific Coast, or in the Dominion, and drunkenness was seldom seen on her streets. It was disgraceful for gentlemen holding such positions to make our city appear to the world as a veritable Sodom and Gomorrah. There was not a city in Eastern Canada where liquor could not be obtained on Sunday. Victoria never had such scenes enacted on her streets as he had witnessed in that most religious city, Quebec. He was pained and shocked that such statements should be made by gentlemen occupying such positions. Steps should be taken to put a bridle on their tongues, and he for one, would endeavor to see that it was done.

Coun. Grant agreed with His Worship that such statements, emanating from such a source, would be highly injurious. In respect to morality he thought Victoria would compare favorably with any other city. He had seen as much good done in Victoria as anywhere. Mr. Starr had perhaps spoken from erroneous information, but Mr. Fraser should have known better. Notwithstanding that there were 66 places for the sale of liquor, very little disturbance occurred, and the standard of morality was as high as anywhere else. He reprobated such statements and thought the Council should give such an expression of opinion as would vindicate the city.

COMMUNICATIONS

were then read as follows:

From Alfred Fellows, asking for a sidewalk to be laid on Government street, between Pembroke street and the bridge. Referred to Street Committee to report.

From I. W. Powell, complaining of insufficient water supply. Referred to Water Committee.

From M. W. T. Drake, Q. C., stating that the Council had failed to remove a sidewalk encroaching upon his property as agreed upon. Referred to Street Committee.

From G. Hargreaves in answer to enquiry as to amount of his account, referring the Council to a resolution of the Council appointing him water works engineer. Referred to Water Committee.

From J. W. Martin, Esquimalt road, asking for a supply of water for laundry purposes. Referred to Water Committee.

From S. L. Kelly, asking for use of a portion of Cook street during repairs to a building. Granted.

From H. P. Bell, stating that a water guage had been placed on the main and it was ascertained that the consumption of water was 915,062 gallons per 24 hours, which was equal to a pressure of 33 lbs at the City Hall. Referred to Water Committee.

HACK BY-LAW.

Councillor Barnard's motion to amend the Hack By-Law was at his request laid over for further consideration.

Couns. Grant submitted a statement of receipts and expenditures for the first half of the current year.

Couns. Higgins said he would place a motion on the board to-morrow, that at the next regular meeting, the Council should take up the question of water supply, with a view to its final settlement.

Couns. Grant said it was competent for the Council to take up the question at any time and that the notice of motion was not required.

Couns. Higgins said he would put the notice on the board anyway.

The Council adjourned at 9:10 p. m.

THE SCHOOL SITE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I see by the report of the school meeting last evening that a new school site has been secured. As a ratepayer, I think the Trustees are right in maintaining that they should be consulted in such a matter. I do not consider the proposed site a proper or convenient one for the children who are likely to attend. I also notice that only one trustee was positive that the sale had been completed, and some one has hinted that it was due to the fact that he wanted real estate cards.

RATEPAYER.

PROVINCE AND CITY.

Keremeos and Its Resources—A Rich District.

Another Success at the Carnival Last Night.

Mr. Thomas Day, a trader and rancher at Keremeos, gives THE TIMES the following particulars relative to that section of the province. Mr. Daly is a well-known railroader, having acted as Superintendent for Mr. Onderdonk for several years during the progress of construction on the C. P. R., first at and near Spence's Bridge and again on the Emory-Port Moody section. Mr. Daly is a native of New Brunswick, and came to British Columbia in 1880, and in 1884 purchased his present ranch at Keremeos from Messrs. Prince & Nicholson. Keremeos is reached by trail from Hope, through Granite Creek and down the Similkameen valley; the distance being 110 miles. From the boundary line Keremeos is distant 14 miles and from Spokane Falls 170 miles. From Osyoos Lake to Spokane Falls there is a good wagon road, built by the American government. By this road all the settlers on the American side reach Spokane Falls and by it all their supplies are taken in. From Osyoos Lake to Keremeos there is a good trail. The settlement embraces nine large ranches. The country is partly arable and pastoral, with an occasional clump of scrub pine, resembling the park country of England more than any other section of British Columbia. Two years ago the adjoining ranch to Mr. Daly's was sold for $45,000. It embraced an area of 2,500 acres, which with the stock realized the figure named. The country has hitherto been comparatively unknown, but now it was coming to the front. A short time since Mr. Coulthardt, of Westminster, purchased a ranch there and has removed his family to live thereon. His ranch is a very good one. The benches are covered with a rich grass, whilst the uplands are noted for the bunch grass which grows in great abundance and is so excellent for feeding purposes. The grazing ranges extend to within 50 miles of Hope on the north and are capable of sustaining large herds of stock. The hay meadows are on the banks of the streams and are numerous. At Keremeos there is a grist mill, belonging to a Mr. Price. Here wheat is ground for the use of the settlers and a good article is turned out. The climate varies, the cold in winter being severe and the heat of summer going to the other extreme. The cold, however, is not of long duration.

AS A MINERAL DISTRICT

the indications are good that the whole of the district is a rich mineral one. Experts from the States have lately arrived in great numbers and prospected the country thoroughly. Claims are staked off in every direction. The claim known as the Cariboo ledge is known to be very rich in gold and silver bearing quartz. With the naked eye gold can be distinguished in the rock. So soon as the existence of the precious metals is demonstrated a stamp mill will be at once set up some distance east of Keremeos and on the Canadian side of the line at Rock creek. Supplies are easily obtainable from the settlers on either side of the line.

Another long felt want has now been supplied, that of a post office at Keremeos. Hitherto the nearest post office was at Okanagan Mission, some 30 miles distant. Mr. Daly has just been appointed postmaster at Keremeos, to which point a mail will now be run once a week. Should a mining boom strike the country as Mr. Daly appears to think is more than likely, the mail will be run oftener, as the influx of miners will demand extra mail facilities. Mr. Daly is a guest at the Oriental where he will sojourn for a few days yet.

AGAIN A SUCCESS.

The Paper Carnival Last Night—Another Brilliant Event.

The second and closing night of the paper carnival was another great success. The rink was again brilliantly illuminated, the dresses charming and the decorations perfect. At 8:15 the grand pageant marched to fascinating music. The Courts of Queen Elizabeth and Mary Queen of Scots were greatly admired in their superb costumes.

In addition to the names of those already mentioned, Mrs. Lenevue and Mrs. Hammond, as gypsies, were costumed in appropriate attire for the characters they assumed.

Miss Helgeson was very attractive as the shepherdess. Miss Brady wore an exceedingly handsome costume, representing a French peasant girl. Mrs. Fisher gave a very effective impersonation of Meg Merriles. Miss Wilde, as Folly, wore a pretty costume. The two fairies were greatly admired, and the two little beauties, Edie Bird and Lillie Renwick, proved a charming picture of youthful beauty and innocence.

The children pages, amongst others who were attired in handsome costumes were Ernest Powell, W Holmes, scarlet and silver; B Powell, J Saunders, gold and white; J Byrne, B Bell, scarlet and silver; J Tuck, H Pooley, gold and white; J Rithet, C Pooley, scarlet and silver, and Paul Renwick, gold and white. Court cards, by the Misses Johnson.

As on the first evening considerable interest was centered in the tableaux, representing the "Flight of Time," the oriental picture of the Japanese ladies and the mysteries of hair dressing. The last and the most impressive of all being the portrayal of Mary Queen of Scots listening to the reading of her death warrant.

The booths and the bazaar tables were well patronized during the continuance of the carnival, and which afforded so much pleasure to all classes during Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings. The affair from first to last was a great success.

DEPUTATION SENT TO FERDINAND.

LONDON, July 13.—The State Delegation Regulation has been sent to inform Prince Ferdinand of his election as the Prince of Bulgaria, and to invite him to go to Sofia and assume the throne to which he was elected by the National Assembly.

There is a renewal of the agitation in foreign securities on the street to-day.

Says the Western Star: Messrs. Hall & Lowe, the well known contractors, commenced operations on the Windsor & Annapolis R. R. last week, and will push the work vigorously.

SEWERAGE.

Our morning contemporary refers to the sewerage question, which has been allowed to rest quietly ever since the ratepayers at the public meeting, in Philharmonic Hall, gave the proposed by-law the six months' hoist. The necessity for sewerage is admitted by nine-tenths of the citizens, but there is less unanimity on the system to be adopted, and considerable opposition to the PICKERING scheme, which is really the only practical attempt yet made to meet the requirements of the city in this respect. There is one view of this matter that the ratepayers cannot lose sight of, and that is the competency or otherwise of the Council, as at present constituted, to direct the work and have control of the expenditure attaching to the carrying out of PICKERING's plans. The people have seen the terrible muddle the Council has made of the water works extension, for which they voted $75,000. A year will soon have elapsed since authority was given to prosecute this necessary piece of work, and although the bonds have been sold and the money procured, practically nothing has been done. It is not our business just now to enquire who the councillors are who have defeated every attempt to go on with the work; the fact remains that the instructions from the people, unmistakeably conveyed to the Council when the by-law was ratified, have been contemptuously ignored. With this example before them, does our contemporary imagine that the people of Victoria would be justified in entrusting such unfaithful stewards with an appropriation of half a million for sewerage purposes? The editor of the Colonist, who, unfortunately for the sewerage and water works schemes, has thought it a public duty to import private dislikes into the discussions at the council board, will himself admit that the men who have been faithless over a few things are not likely to be faithful over many, and therefore he cannot consistently advocate the introduction of a sewerage by-law while they remain in power to frustrate the will of the people. We agree with him as to the urgent need for a thorough system of sewerage, and in view of the character and standing of the engineers who prepared and endorsed the scheme now before the council, we are in favor of the early construction of the work according to Mr. PICKERING's plans; but until the council prove their ability to manage the public business like honest men having only the best interests of the city at heart, by completing the water-works extension according to instructions, or as nearly thereto as personal animosities will permit, it is needless for them to ask for additional authority or for more money to squander. A sewerage by-law asking for $500,000, or even half, or a quarter of that sum would not to-day receive one hundred votes. The scandalous do-nothing policy that has obtained on the reservoir question has taught the people a lesson, and they will stop the supplies until the time comes to give the incompetents the grand bounce.

FRANCE IN TRIBULATION.

From all that can be gathered concerning the political outlook in France it is very evident that another crisis is on the political boards in that muchly agitated country. Since its formation the ROUVIER ministry has been ridiculed and despised; its overthrow may occur at any moment. Its formation, indeed, was but an incident in the degradation of General BOULANGER, whose position and conduct in the former ministry were considered dangerous, and threatened the continuance of peace between France and Germany. As BOULANGER could not be got to resign, then those who desired peace had to defeat the ministry as a whole, and cause them to resign, including BOULANGER. This step is said to have been instigated by BISMARCK, and it is highly probable. Now, at all events, Germany is not concealing its satisfaction at BOULANGER's overthrow. But it is very doubtful whether the friends of peace in France have bettered their position by this change of ministry, and official decapitation of BOULANGER. The latter, indeed, would seem to have far more power and influence now with the people than he had while Minister of War. He is not only very popular among the people, but has actually become their hero. They attribute his official overthrow as entirely due to German influence, and that it was exerted to this end simply because he had brought the French army to such a state of efficiency as to become a menace to Germany, and to actually frighten that nation. Nothing could be more pleasing to the French, and so BOULANGER has simply thereby become their idol. So jealous is President GREVY and the French Ministry of BOULANGER's influence and popularity that they have thought it prudent to remove him from Paris. They have accordingly appointed him to the command of a remote military station; and BOULANGER has accepted of the post. The people, however, cannot fail to see through this transparent device, and it will render BOULANGER more popular than ever, while at same time it will fan the fire of dislike to Germany. By his removal the government also relieves BOULANGER of all responsibility for any anti-German demonstrations which take place, and on his return he will be in a far stronger position than ever. As for the present Ministry it will only remain in power so long as the Monarchial factions choose to support it.

MINISTERS ON THE WING.

Referring to the movements of the Cabinet Ministers at Ottawa, the Evening Journal claims to be able, after a careful investigation, to present the following tabulated statement of their destinations and objects, and hopes they'll have a good time and come back mighty men of war to renew combat with the Grits:

Ministers.	Destination.	Object.
Sir John	England	Peerage.
Sir Charles	"	To get away from the Globe.
Bowell	"	To study free trade.
Sir Hector	Quebec	To see Chaplean off.
Abbott	Montreal	*Boodle.
White	Northwest	To sit on Burgess.
Carling	"	To learn farming.
Chapleau	France	Paris.
Foster	The Gulf	To kill fish pirates.
McLelan	Brit Columbia	To see Thompson.
Thompson	"	To see McLelan.
Caron	"	Military glory.
Costigan	The Desert	Fishing.
Pope	Whereabouts unknown	Bed

*Lawyer with big practice.

From the foregoing it will be observed that we may expect a visit from no less than three Cabinet Ministers within the next few weeks.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Sir John Macdonald finds it necessary to make a personal appeal to his Ontario supporters to induce them to take stock in the projected new Tory organ. The required capital is being subscribed very slowly.

The Comptroller of Mounted Police at Ottawa has received dispatches stating that perfect quietness prevails throughout the Territories. This year, in Mounted Police circles, is characterized by the fewness of desertions, considering the increase in the force.

Hon. Mr. McLelan, Postmaster-General, will not participate in the Digby, Nova Scotia, campaign after all. Sir Charles will take a hand in it if he canspare the time. The government have advices, as usual, that Digby, N. S., is sure for their candidate.

According to gossip, Princess Louise, eldest daughter of the Prince of Wales, has already refused three eligible young men, and now a fourth is dangling on the hook, waiting breathlessly, it is supposed, for her decision. He is a Russian prince, and, as Russian princes go, a fairly good fellow.

Mr. Kamper, whose Intercolonial propositions to the government were not favorably entertained, has sailed from New York for Europe. He returns to Paris to consult the Rothschilds and other interested capitalists to see if a new scheme cannot be prepared. Sir Charles Tupper, on behalf of the government, will confer with them in Paris on the 27th inst. The report in political circles is to the effect that the whole scheme originated with Senator Senecal, who worked the wires from Paris with hopes of better success.

It is rumored in lumber circles, says an Ottawa dispatch, that the biggest transaction which has ever taken place in the trade is about completed, being the sale of McLaughlin Bros'. large mills at Arnprior, and extensive limits on the Upper Ottawa, to Hon. J. G. Ross, of Quebec, and E. B. Eddy, the match king, of Hull. The consideration is $2,500,000. The cause of selling is the ill-health of the managing partner, who has been advised by his physician to seek rest. In the event of the purchase being completed it is said Messrs. Ross and Eddy contemplate building a short line railway from Arnprior, through the townships of Fitzroy, Huntley, March and Nepier to Ottawa.

It is not anticipated that the government will take further action if the construction of the Manitoba Provincial Railway is continued. According to the view of a Cabinet Minister, the road will probably meet its own fate, and that ere many years elapse. In the first place, the refusal of the Canadian Pacific Railway to connect its tracks with the rival road will prevent the latter securing freight from points west of Winnipeg. The line, it appears, will have to depend upon local traffic through a narrow stretch of country already traversed by two lines, as well as the Red river.

-In Brief and to the Point-

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this and business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember! No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

IN GUADALAJARA.

LIFE AMONG THE WORKERS OF A PROSPEROUS MEXICAN CITY.

Attractions of "The Chicago of Mexico." View from the Cathedral Tower—A Peculiar Kind of Pottery—Rare Filigree Work—Feather Work.

Guadalajara—upon the left bank of the Rio Grande de Santiago, just 275 miles west from the City of Mexico and 140 miles from the Pacific—has been called "the Chicago of Mexico," because of its enterprise and liberal ideas. Its present population is officially recorded as 93,875, and, though so remote from railroads and little known to the outer world, it has street cars, electric lights, telephones, a fine system of water works, and other adjuncts of an advanced civilization. It lies in the midst of a region so fertile—where fruits, cereals, and vegetables grow in astonishing abundance—that the outlying haciendas yield as high as fifty bushels of corn to the acre twice in every year, the first crop being planted in February and the second in July.

The city boasts of no fewer than fourteen plazas, more than a dozen public fountains, innumerable churches, a fine opera house and several theatres, an elegant casino or club house, a mint, a city hall, a splendid university, and the only academy of fine arts in Mexico, except that of San Carlos at the national capital. The grand cathedral—a magnificent structure situated on the Plaza de Armas—was completed in 1818, but its outer appearance was greatly impaired by the earthquake of 1818, which destroyed the cupolas of both its towers.

From the top of the cathedral tower the lover of the picturesque may obtain a view which will delight his soul. One thing that will probably strike him with surprise, if new to Mexican cities, is the absence of chimneys, which in other countries form so prominent a feature of such views. In all this sunny country there is no such thing as a stove or fireplace, hence no chimneys. In Jalisco the temperature remains at about 70 deg. from year to year, and, though the traveler will feel inclined to keep in the shade at noonday, he should wear flannel underclothing constantly and a light overcoat in the evening. The cooking is all done with charcoal, in Dutch ovens built out of doors, or in earthen pots similar to our large sized plant jars, partly filled with coals, upon which smaller jars are placed. Chimneys would be a superfluity, for nobody wants a fire in the house with the thermometer never below the seventies, and for the same reason he objects to inclosing himself in a conservatory by putting glass in his windows when all the winds of heaven are welcome. But, though he should want it never so badly, fuel enough to run one of our wasteful cooking machines would be entirely out of the question, since coal—which is mostly imported from England—costs $25 per ton and wood $20 per cord. Gasoline is unobtainable, and petroleum sells for $1.25 per gallon.

Various trades are carried on in Guadalajara with great success, particularly silversmithing, blacksmithing, and carpentering. Among the manufactures those of iron, steel, glass, and a peculiar kind of pottery, are celebrated all over the republic. Indeed, the fame of "Guadalajara pottery" is world wide. There are the queerest designs of carafes, old water jugs with two spouts or one, jars, mugs, pitchers with long noses and stubby handles, etc., made of baked clay, highly glazed, with black, pale gray or dark red ground, painted with impossible flowers and figures which it would be no violation of the second commandment to worship, all quaint enough to rank high in any collection of ceramics. When new this ware imparts to the water it contains a strange flavor, which is greatly relished by the Mexicans, but as much disliked by most other people.

The gayest of scrapes and the finest of rebozos are also manufactured hereabouts; also paper and printed calico. The filigree work of the Guadalajara jewelers is simply wonderful, and may be seen any day in every stage of progress, because in all tropical countries, as in the far east, the majority of workmen follow their vocations in the open air. The gold and silversmiths ply their intricate trade outside their little shops, on the street corners, anywhere, undisturbed by the dust and confusion around them. They make exquisite bits of ornamentation of the gold known in commerce as "etruscan," meaning the dark, rich, reddish yellow variety. These works are much more popular in Europe than on this continent, and across the Atlantic no collection of jewels or ornaments is considered complete without a set of Mexican filigree work. At every street corner are little stands, where genuine treasures in the way of antique jewelry or exquisite specimens of filigree work may be bought for a song. There are bracelets, necklaces, combs, earrings, crucifixes—in short, every imaginable device—some set with the beautiful opals of Queretaro, or pearls from the California gulf, or topazes, amethysts, garnets, "cats' eyes" from other portions of Mexico.

The Guadalajaran wood carvers are also famed for the beauty of their workmanship. In a hundred little shops we find swarthy workmen patiently carving bits of wood into wonderful rosaries, every bead of which shows a miniature picture of some scriptural scene, heads which are really perfect portraits for the tips of canes and umbrellas, rings, boxes, cigarette cases, buttons, etc. The cane carvers, who have over 200 varieties of rich native wood to chose from, produce some wonderful sticks, and many of the most exquisite umbrella and parasol handles known to commerce are wrought by these unknown and poorly paid workmen.

Mexican gold and silver embroidery, thread lace, "draw" work and intricate needle work also command universal admiration. But the richest and most curious of all is the plumaje or feather work, which is made only in Mexico, and nowhere better than in Guadalajara—the secret of which is known only to certain families in which it has been preserved for centuries. In this city there are elegant mansions decorated something as were Montezuma's palaces with feather work the most elaborate, which is neither tapestry nor applique, nor is it woven into or sewn upon the foundation. There are magnificent curtains, also, besides altar cloths, scarfs, hangings and other decorations, made of some heavy material ornamented in an indescribably brilliant manner by leaves and foliage of embroidery, in which birds stand out in bold relief because the latter are made of the natural plumage of the birds themselves. By some mysterious process known only to the artists, these real feathers are wrought upon the stuffed surface so naturally that the bird from which the plumage came is perfectly reproduced.

The same art is also exercised upon cards, large and small, scarf pins, hair ornaments, etc., and the tiniest humming birds and the tallest of the stork family are accurately represented. The plumaje of the ancient Mexicans has often been described by early writers, and a few ragged specimens of the the royal feather cloaks worn by Montezuma and his nobles may still be seen flattering upon the walls of museums.—Guadalajara (Mexico) Letter.

Don Cameron at Home.

Don Cameron is the most unsociable man in public life. He is entirely unlike his father, the venerable Simon Cameron, whose loquacity is only equaled by his fondness for company. The old man will talk a companion blind in half a day. He is particularly fond of relating his early political experiences. It is not so with Don. He will ride in a railroad car for a week and never exchange a word with a passenger. He does not even talk with his family. When he goes home at night, after his congressional work is over, he will draw up a table, call for a pack of cards, and play solitaire the whole evening, without speaking a word to a soul. All the time he is playing he is thinking out some political or real estate scheme.—Chicago Times.

A RAT'S REASONING POWERS.

A Most Remarkable Incident—A Mother Rat's Experience.

As throwing light upon the question of the intelligence of the animal creation, in the exhibition of memory and reasoning power, beyond the mere pals of recognized instinct, I wish to give a brief account of an interesting incident of which I was a witness. On a very warm day in early summer I happened to be standing near a chicken coop in a back yard when I noticed the head of a very gray and grizzled rat thrust from a neighboring rat hole, and concluded to watch the movements of the veteran. After a careful survey of the surroundings, our old rodent seemed to be satisfied that all was right, and made a cautious exit from the home retreat. A fresh pan of water had been recently placed before the chicken coop for the use of Mother "Chick" and her interesting brood. These all seemed to have satisfied their thirst, and the water looked a friendly invitation to the thirsty old rat, which immediately started toward it.

The rat had not reached the pan before five half grown young ones rushed ahead and tried to be first at the water. The old rat thereupon immediately made a leap like a kangaroo, and was at the edge of the dish in advance of the foremost of her litter. Then ensued a most remarkable occurrence. The mother rat raised herself on her haunches and bit and scratched her offspring so severely, whenever they attempted to reach the water, that they all finally scudded away, evidently very much astonished and frightened at the strange and unaccountable behavior of their mother. I was as much astonished as they, and waited with renewed interest the outcome of this remarkable performance. When the little ones were at a safe distance, the reason for her extraordinary behavior began to be revealed at once in the intelligent action of the old mother rat.

She first wet her whiskers in the water, looked suspiciously about her, then very cautiously and carefully took a dainty little sip of the liquid. She tasted it as tentatively and critically as a professional tea taster, and when she was satisfied that it contained no poisonous or other deleterious matter, she gave a couple of squeaks, which quickly brought her young and thirsty brood to her side, and all fearlessly drank to their fill. Now, this old mother rat was experienced, had evidently learned her lesson in that school thoroughly, and so she would not allow her young and untaught litter to taste water which might have contained rat poison, or what not, until she had satisfied herself that the liquid was harmless. As I witnessed this little scene in lowly animal life the thought would keep coming, does not this look very like reason?—F. Croll Baum in American Naturalist.

The Old Man Tells His Yarn.

"I want to tell you a little story about my boy out in Newbraskey," said an old farmer in the smoking car to the party of drummers who had been telling him some pretty tall yarns. "My boy is a good deal of a genius in his way, lemme tell you, and none of 'em gets ahead of him. T'other day he rigged up a kite. It was the biggest kite I'd ever set eyes on. It was about six feet wide, an' twice as long, an' on the top of it my boy placed a few green branches which he'd cut from a cottonwood tree. 'What's them fer?' I inquired. 'Never you mind, dad,' says he; 'I know what I'm about.' And, by gosh, he did. He flew that kite up in the air an' stood watchin' of it fer a long time, when I says to him: 'You'd better pull that thing down now an' get to your work.' 'Lemme alone, dad,' he replied, 'I'll git thar yet.' And, by gosh, he did. The next time I took a look at him he was a-hauling in on the kite line, with a smile on his face as broad as a furrer. When the kite came down near the ground I saw what he was a-smilin' at, and it was enough to make a body smile, too. Any you fellers want to guess what was on that kite?'

None of the drummers wanted to guess, and the old man continued his story:

"Wall, sir, a sittin' on the top o' that kite was eleven o' the purtiest wild geese yo ever saw. Yes, sir, eleven on 'em. You see, the geese was flyin' north purty thick, an' my boy had got up this scheme to catch 'em. There ain't many trees out our way, an' after a fat goose has been flyin' purty steady all day he gits kind o' tired like an' looks around for a place to sit down an' rest. That's just what my boy was countin' on when he built that kite. By offerin' the geese a place to stop an' rest, an' by smearin' the top o' the kite with tar so their feet would stick so fast they couldn't get away, he did the business. By gosh! but it was fun to pull them geese in. Just as fast as we could send the kite up and pull her down again we got from ten to a dozen geese, an' in four days we captured six car loads, an' I'm takin' 'em to Chicago now to sell. None o' you smart, story tellin' fellers don't happen to know what wild geese is with now in the Chicago market, do ye?"—Chicago Herald.

Solomon's Judgment in Chinese.

Two women came before a mandarin in China, each of them protesting that she was the mother of a little child they had brought with them. They were so eager and so positive that the mandarin was sorely puzzled. He retired to consult with his wife, who was a wise and clever woman, whose opinion was held in great repute in the neighborhood.

She requested five minutes in which to deliberate. At the end of that time she spoke: "Let the servants catch me a large fish in the river, and let it be brought me here alive."

This was done.

"Bring me now the infant," she said, "but leave the women in the outer chamber."

This was done, too. Then the mandarin's wife caused the baby to be undressed and its clothes put on the fish.

"Carry the creature outside now, and throw it into the river in the sight of the two women."

The servant obeyed her orders, flinging the fish into the water, where it rolled about and struggled, disgusted, no doubt, by the wrapping in which it was swaddled.

Without a moment's pause one of the mothers threw herself into the river with a shriek. She must save her drowning child.

"Without doubt, she is the true mother," she declared, and the mandarin's wife commanded that she should be rescued and the child given to her.

"Without a doubt, she is the true mother," she declared. And the mandarin nodded his head, and thought his wife the wisest woman in the flowery kingdom. Meantime the false mother crept away. She was found out in her imposture, and the mandarin's wife forgot all about her in the occupation of donning the little baby in the best silk she could find in her wardrobe.—London Academy.

Method of Beating Hotels.

New York hotels suffer most from customers known to them, who have been good pay, but lose all their money in dissipation and go away without paying their bills. A comparatively new method of beating hotels is this: A well dressed guest pompously registers, throws down a check and orders the clerk to send for his baggage. He goes to his room and the clerk reports that the baggage cannot be found. The guest gets very indignant, and the search for his trunks is renewed. The next morning, after having had a dinner, a night's lodging and breakfast, the guest goes away and leaves his check, which it is found represents no baggage, but was procured for the express purpose of beating hotels. The New York hotel men are now so well organized, however, that out of the incomes from 50,000 guests a day they lose less than 1 per cent of their profits by reason of beats.

Wealthy people on wedding tours, who pay $40 to $50 a day for a suite of rooms, are desirable guests, but Sarah Bernhardt and Patti are more choice patrons. They pay from $50 to $75 a day for apartments, and $25 a day or more for meals. Bernhardt has the reputation of being the most easily pleased of all high priced guests as to her meals.—Amos J. Cummings in Pioneer Press.

—The weather in the east is so oppressively warm that cases of sun strokes—many of them fatal—are a matter of almost hourly occurrences. As to comfort there is no comparison between the two.

Gladstone Cigars.

Skedaddling Chinese.

The nine Chinamen who were captured near Port Angelos a few days since by a U. S. revenue cutter were passengers today by the Geo. E. Starr. They came over in charge of a U. S. Customs official. On their arrival here they were taken in charge by Mr. Vrooman (Gardiner) the Chinese interpreter, and brought to the Custom House, where their papers were examined. It was claimed that each had a certificate of registration.

Tony Cigars.

The Yacht Race.

The yacht race was sailed over again this afternoon. The Frolic, owned by Mr. Joselyn, came in first; the Mary owned by Jarves Longhurst, second; and Bertha, owned by Messrs. Borde, third.

Installation.

The newly elected officers of Columbia Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., were installed last night by Grand Master J. Davies, as follows: Noble Grand, P Dempster; Vice-Grand, R P McLennan; Rec Secretary, R W Fawcett; Per Secretary, Richard Jones; Treasurer, G H Maynard; Warden, M McCahill; Conductor, J J McIntyre; R S N G, W Hicks; L S N G, Wm Croft; R S V G, R A Anderson; L S V G, J W Morrison; J G, E A Bates; O G, W H Huxtable. After the ceremony of installation, the members repaired to the Occidental Hotel, upon the invitation of the Noble Grand, and were royally entertained for several hours by Past Grand Croft, the new proprietor. The customary loyal and fraternal toasts were proposed and responded to in excellent style by the company, and after an exceedingly pleasant evening the brethren of the mystic links adjourned at an early hour.

Banff Coal for the Coast.

THE TIMES is in a position to state that a contract has been closed with the C. P. R. Company to deliver at Vancouver for the San Francisco market 1,800 tons of Banff anthracite coal. This is regarded as the inaugural shipment to that city; others will follow in rapid succession. It is believed that a regular fleet of colliers will be established between Vancouver or Port Moody (for it is on the boards to make Port Moody the headquarters for the coal shipping trade) and San Francisco and other coast cities and towns. A thorough test has been made of this coal at the request of the Government of the Dominion, and it has been found to equal many of the best and most popular brands of the Pennsylvania article. Special transportation rates have been agreed upon by both the railway and the owners of the mines at Banff—many of whom are prominent Americans. The output already is over 500 tons per day, which with the approach of cold weather will be largely increased.

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. *

From Bear River.

The steamer Maude, Captain Jones, arrived this morning from Bear River, which point she left at 5 o'clock p. m., yesterday. Captain Jones says all the white men had left the camp before he arrived and only Chinese were left.

Mr. Alex. Cameron and a number of other miners arrived this morning in canoes from the same place. Bear River is pronounced no good as a whiteman's camp, and it is very likely the Chinese will be left in undisturbed possession in the future.

Timber Inspector.

The Provincial Government has appointed Mr. D. McRae, of Chilliwhack, inspector of timber for the province. Mr. McRae has had a long experience in the timber and lumber trade in Ontario, California, Nevada and other places, and is well qualified to discharge the duties of the office, which is a new one. His headquarters will be at Vancouver, and his district will be the whole province outside of the railway belt, which is under the Dominion Government.

A Raid.

The police last night made a raid upon the Chinese houses of prostitution and captured inmates and keepers of the principal dens of vice in that delectable locality. The miserable creatures, ranging in ages from fourteen to the veteran hag and numbering about twenty in all, were locked up until bailed out. At the police court this morning, they were remanded until Monday next.

Crops Injured.

The frosts prevailing for the past few nights have done considerable injury to the crops on this Island. From the mainland we have not yet heard whether the result has been serious or otherwise. In the Cowichan district, especially in the low lying sections the injury done has been serious in many instances.

A Fatal Season.

The present heated season in Montreal is very fatal with children. Cholera and cholera infantum is prevalent throughout the city. Medical men say there are over ten thousand cases and state that they are consequently overworked. Victoria in this respect is wonderfully healthy.

Accident to Mr. Orr.

On Tuesday Mr. Jas. Orr, M. P. P., while walking on the sidewalk in Vancouver, was thrown suddenly forward by his foot catching in a sliver, when he received a severe spain of the left knee joint. He will be confined to the house for a few days.

Special Rates.

Tourists and others are quoted a specially low rate by the C. P. R. from Vancouver to Banff and return. The rate fixed upon being only $30 and tickets are good for some weeks. Tourists and sportsmen should note these rates and take advantage thereof.

For the North.

The steamer Barbara Boscowitz left last night for Port Simpson and way ports, carrying a large quantity of freight and the following passengers: R Cunningham, J Clayton, Rev C Harrison, H C Beeton, Mrs Low, Price and Nicholes.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

WEDNESDAY, July 13th.

EVENING SESSION.

An able and instructive address was given by W. Hunter, B. A., on "Elementary Arithmetic." The chief points evolved were the importance of giving greater attention to the various steps in the first stages of arithmetic and the necessity on the part of the teachers of improving their methods of instruction. Mr. J. F. Smith then read an interesting paper on the "Requirements and trials of teachers," which elicited considerable discussion, in which Messrs. Levings, Sizewright and Thain took part. Mr. D. E. Kerr then closed the evening's session with an excellent recitation.

THURSDAY, July 14th.

MORNING SESSION.

Convention opened at 10 a. m. with the Vice-President, Miss A. D. Cameron, in the chair.

Mr. Coalham read a very interesting and well prepared paper on the Phonic Method of teaching reading, and illustrated his system in a lucid manner.

A lively discussion followed in which Messrs. Scivewright, Kenny, Levings, and others took part.

A paper by Mr. Wilson on Vocal and Physical Training was listened to with great interest by the association and as the morning was far spent when the reading of the paper was concluded it was passed over without any discussion. The session was brought to a close by a very humorous and well rendered recitation from Capt. Thomson.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The session opened with President Pope in the chair.

"An object lesson and how to teach it," by Mr. Sievewright, occupied the attention of the Institute for some time and was favorably received.

Mr. R. A. Anderson was then called upon for a paper on the "Teacher's side of the question." This was an excellent article and was well received.

Mr. Davis followed with an instructive exhibition of a set of physiological charts adopted for the use of schools.

The convention is in session as we go to press.

A CAPITAL APPOINTMENT.

Mr. Michael Phillips the New Indian Agent for Kootenay.

During the recent visit of Dr. Powell, Indian Superintendent, to Kootenay, he appointed Mr. Michael Phillips to the Indian agency for that district. Mr. M. Phillips for many years was connected with the H. B. Company at Tobacco Plains and is an old resident of Kootenay, having resided there for over 25 years. He is thoroughly familiar with the Indians of that section, their habits and their language. Mr. Phillips is a native of Wales, having emigrated from that country to this province many years ago. His father at one time was Dean of St. David's. He is also a relative of the great Biddulph family, well-known in connection with the Canada Company. By birth, education and manner Mr. Phillips is a thorough gentleman and his appointment cannot fail in giving satisfaction to all interested in the Southern section of Kootenay. Dr. Powell and the government are to be congratulated on the selection made as it will tend to speedily contribute to the settlement of the Indian difficulty there. Equally deserving of credit are the American authorities for bringing in supplies for the troops and in other ways assisting the Canadians in suppressing any uprising likely to occur at that point. Such conduct goes to show that good feeling still continues to be maintained between the two countries, in that section at all events.

THE HAWAIIAN REVOLUTION.

An Empty Treasury—The King Disposed to Kick.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—The citizens who participated in the mass meeting have formed a general vigilance committee, and two thousand are ready to assemble should the King revoke any part of the concessions. Kalakaua denies having received the $71,000 opium bribery fund from the Chinese, and will not repay the money.

The proposed changes in the constitution are radical, and are said to be very unpalatable to the King. One clause places him on a level with Queen Victoria as far as actual power is concerned, and another seeks to make the holding of real estate a qualification for voting. Kalakaua is indignant that the people wish to bind him down. He may appeal to the natives to help him hold out against the advocates of the change. If the new constitution, as framed, becomes the organic law of the Kingdom, nearly every Kanaka will be disfranchised, and the King relies on this fact to rally around him the native population.

The total revenue found in the Treasury vaults was six dollars and forty-seven cents.

It appears that ex-Minister Gibson was allowed to remain at his home until July 5th, when he and his son-in-law, Hayselden, were taken to the prison on the Reef, owing to renewed plotting by Gibson. The Reef is an island in the harbor. The whites are now aroused to the necessity of speedy action and are prepared to force the King to their terms. The claim is made by the resident whites on the Islands that if further trouble occurs and the King recedes from his promises, he will be driven from power.

Served Him Right.

Mr. A. R. Milne, of H. M. Customs, sent Kin Tan to custody for evading the Chinese Restriction Act. His case came up at the police court and was remanded. This is the only way to punish these crafty Mongolians. It is to be hoped the Customs officials will see to it that the Act is rigidly enforced, and that it will not be allowed to become a dead letter.

M. SULLIVAN, M. D. B. Laurance's spectacles sold only by D. E. Campbell, Fort street.

PERSONALS.

Governor Nelson continues to improve in health at Harrison Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Paul, of Nanaimo, are registered at the Clarence.

Mr. R. Cunningham returns to Port Essington by the Boscowitz which left this morning.

J. Gordon, Sooke, Mrs. Parker, Rocky Point, and Thos. Tugwell, Sooke, are at the Oriental.

Mrs. Low, of this city, will be a guest of Mrs. Hall, of Port Simpson, for a short visit. She was a passenger by the Boscowitz this morning.

Mr. H. C. Beeton, of London, left for the Skeena river this morning on the Boscowitz, to inspect the canneries in which his firm is interested.

Messrs. T. G. Shaughnessy, assistant-general manager of the C. P. R., and B. B. Osler, Q. C., of Toronto, are on their way to this coast.

Mr. Abraham Ellis, who has been foreman of the Colonist news room, goes east by to-morrow's train to his home in Port Hope, Ont. He will be absent some three or four months.

Sir Donald and Lady Smith, Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mr. Justice Gwynne and Mr. Colmer were among the Canadians present at the laying of the foundation stone of the Imperial Institute by the Queen.

Mr. Ham. Lipsett, of the C. P. N. service, will leave in the morning for Harrison Hot Springs. The young gentleman was born near the Springs twenty-two years ago, and this will be his first visit since then.

Mr. Thos. Orr, nephew of Mr. James Orr, M. P. P., has been retained by Vice-President Potter, of the Union Pacific Railroad, as his chief clerk. It is satisfactory to know that the services of young Canadians are appreciated in the Western country by railway magnates.

Mr. Gooderham, of Toronto, who will reach Victoria to-night is a strong advocate for and believer in the Salvation Army. At Winnipeg a few days since he assisted in their services. Although a member of that wealthy family, Mr. Gooderham never had any connection with the distillery of the firm of Gooderham & Worts.

Mr. L. R. O'Brien, the artist, and President of the Royal Canadian Academy, is at Banff, painting. He was very successful with his paintings of the Rocky Mountain scenery last year, but he declares some of the views at Banff exceed in beauty any that he has seen elsewhere in the mountains. Mr. Forshaw Day, the Kingston artist, is also at Banff.
